

Dear Sony Valued Customer,

Sony has initiated a global replacement program for certain AC power adapters included with VAIO PCs and docking stations which may cause the units to short circuit and pose a potential electrical shock hazard.

This replacement program only applies to AC power adapters that were supplied in Canada with certain VAIO LT and JS series computers sold after September 2007. Certain non-Canadian models of computers and docking stations are also affected. If you are eligible, a free replacement AC power adapter will be provided to you.

Sony Recalls Computer AC Adapters Due to Shock Hazard

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, in cooperation with the firm named below, today announced a voluntary recall of the following consumer product. Consumers should stop using recalled products immediately unless otherwise instructed.

Name of Product: Sony VAIO Computer AC Adapters

Units: About 69,000

Manufacturer: Sony Electronics Inc. of San Diego, Calif.

Hazard: Insulation inside the AC adapter can fail over time, posing an electrical shock hazard to consumers.

Incidents/Injuries: Sony has received four reports of adapters short circuiting. No incidents occurred in the United States. No injuries have been reported.

Description: The recalled AC adapter model is the Sony VGP-AC19V17, which was supplied for use with the following Sony products:
